NUMBER 174

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Election, Tuesday, November 4, 1884.

FOR PRESIDENT.

JAMES G. BLAINE,

OF MAINE.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

JOHN A. LOGAN,

OF ILLINOIS.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

At Large—J. J. Meyer.

First District—J. W. Ostrander.

Second District—D. C. Van Dine.

Third District—Joseph Harris.

Fourth District—John Harris.

Fifth District—E. W. Austin.

Sixth District—B. T. Rogers.

Seventh District—W. M. Foss.

Eighth District—Carrie Anderson.

Ninth District—E. L. Brown.

The republicans are still painting Ohio red.

Republican enthusiasm has reached a boiling point in Ohio. Look out for a big republican majority.

Our democratic friends haven't much to do this fall but to sit on fences and see the republican processions go by.

When the democrats get through with the Mulligan letters the republicans will use them as campaign documents.

A man who can satisfactorily and intelligently explain the tariff plank in the democratic platform is a legitimate curiosity.

"Anything to beat Blaine," is the democratic cry, but the democrats will not be able to find anything that will beat him.

The Ohio question is settled except the size of the republican majority. Some places it is as low as 10,000, but others have faith that it will run up to 25,000.

The latest from Mr. Beecher is that he holds Grover Cleveland up as a fearful example for young men, and yet he tells them to vote for him. Great logic from a great preacher.

General Logan is drawing crowds by the mere whiff of his name. At Akron he had an audience of 30,000. Let him draw a crowd in Ohio and try his magnetism a long side Logan's.

The New York Star, which is the organ of Tammany, makes this point on Cleveland: "We should approve of any method which Governor Cleveland might adopt to give the public a better opinion of his mental capacity, even if it demanded another letter."

The democrats in the east are having a quiet time of it. They have no one to throw them into wild enthusiasm and make them shout till their throats are sore. Cleveland isn't the kind of a man. Neither is Hendricks. They will kick a little, but will go down to defeat in comparative quiet.

During 1883, there were 221,154 emigrants to this country, and of that number 123,065 came from Great Britain, to escape the beautiful blessings of free trade. In the last thirteen years, 3,632, 715 have fled from the blessings of Europe to seek homes and prosperity in this "tariff-burdened" country.

The city of Kalamazoo, Michigan, has twenty miles of water-pipe and connection. The cash receipts for water now reach the sum of about $8,000, giving the city the free use of 173 fire hydrants. The city has between ten and twelve miles of sewers and connections of the small stone-pipe system. It is effective and now popular, though at first much opposition was manifested.

Only a few weeks ago, a manager of a lecture bureau down east wrote to General Sherman for his rates for lecturing, and the following characteristic reply was made: "Dear Sir—My regular charge for 'lecturing' is a million of dollars for outsiders; for my soldier comrades, once a year, nothing. For the former never has this been accepted; for the latter by book of engagements is full for the natural period of my life. With great respect, WILLIAM T. SHERMAN."

An item showing the intelligence of dogs comes from Orleans, New York which in substance is, that on Thursday night of last week a Newfoundland dog roused the guests of a burning hotel and piloted them safely through the smoky halls to the open air. All were out; but the dog, hearing a mother crying for her missing child, rushed into the building again and was burned to death. This is a remarkable story, but its truthfulness is vouched for by the best of authority.

For the special benefit of those independent republicans who are kicking against Blaine because they imagine that it is political wickedness to buy railway bonds, we reproduce these two sentences from an exchange: "They say that if the cover were once fully lifted off the record of Thomas A. Hendricks as commissioner of the land office, the political atmosphere would soon be filled with a more variegated collection of odors than the two and seventy that Colorado found in Colorado. As a sanitary precaution, however, it is to be hoped that the uncovering may be postponed to the cooler weather of October."

The New York Tribune very aptly describes the democratic situation in Wisconsin, so far as Mr. Pratt is concerned: "Democratic hypocrisy has seldom been more strikingly exemplified than by the present tactics of the democratic party in Wisconsin. Pledged by its platform to the defence of the liquor interests of the state, it nominated for governor a man who has long been known as an ardent prohibitionist, and in alliance with the state agricultural society, of which its candidate, Mr. Pratt, is president, is now endeavoring to win republican votes for St. John as the most hopeful method of electing its own ticket. Here, indeed, are sincerity and devotion to principle."

Mr. P. T. Barnum, one of the most successful showmen in the country, and a ripe scholar and successful lecturer, has not tasted liquor for nearly forty years. He has consecrated much time and money to the temperance cause, and the other day when some one asked him to contribute $50 toward the purchase of a St. John banner, he showed his wisdom answering in the following words: "I am opposed to such an unwise proceeding, and would sooner pay to have it stopped. Every man who reflects, reads and learns his own interest, and desires the prosperity and permanency of America and the truly democratic government, securing the greatest good of the greatest number, will vote the republican ticket and not be misled by noisy misnamed democrats, or generally honest, noble-hearted temperance people who injure their cause by entering national politics and thus helping the greatest curse under which we suffer."

The following incident is recorded in the proceedings of the Cook county democratic club, of Chicago, at a meeting held last Tuesday evening:

During the meeting W. J. Gallagher, a member of the club, and Patrick O'Brien, one of the members from the third ward, that he was engaged in organizing a Blaine and Logan club, and gave notice that he would move his expulsion from the club at the next meeting. The charge was in writing, and was laid over under the rules.

It looks very much as if the democrats will not have cause to complain of an inactive campaign if the meetings of their organization are to be devoted to expelling the Irish members who are going to vote for Blaine and Logan. With such representative Irishmen on the republican stamps as Alexander Sullivan, M. C. Quinn, and Judge Brennan, with nearly all the Irish Catholic papers open to Cleveland, and with the vicious insults which the democratic party has loaded on the Irish voters, it is not surprising there is a stampede among the people of that nationality.

THE QUESTION OF ASSEMBLY.

A question of very weighty importance in the campaign in Wisconsin is that of electing a republican legislature. The term of Senator Cameron expires on the 4th of March next, which brings the senatorial question in the canvass. The democrats will bring into the campaign all the power they possess, and will try for one thing chiefly, that of carrying the legislature. They can not hope to give Cleveland the state. There is not a ghost of a show for them to elect their state ticket. They are willing to sacrifice the state and national tickets if thereby they can make the legislature sure.

The scheme is to carry the legislature for Colonel Vilas. He is anxious for a seat in the United States senate. It is his cherished ambition to be surrounded by the gravity, dignity, and the scholar-ship that is peculiar to that body. He doesn't want to be governor because he knows he can't be elected, but the senate chamber would do his democratic soul good, and his party has promised to give him the seat.

From these facts, the republicans understand their duty, and they should not be slow in performing it, that no blunders may be committed. Blaine will carry the state, and Governor Rusk will be elected. These things are written among the certainties. But how about the legislature? It is now democratic on a joint ballot, the democrats having 55 in the assembly to 45 for the republicans and all others, and 18 in the senate to the republicans 17. The lost assembly districts must be regained and they easily can be by hard work and careful nominations. Republicans throughout the state must bear the legislature in mind. It must be won. The same amount of work bestowed upon that ticket that is given the other tickets, will give the republicans the legislature by a large majority.

This matter should not be slighted by the republicans of Janesville. The Second district is close, but generally republican. By a judicious nomination it can be carried, and a nomination of that kind should be made by all means.

ABOUT TORCH-LIGHT PROCESSIONS.

The magnificent republican demonstration at Beloit on Wednesday night, was one of the most brilliant political events ever seen in the streets of that beautiful city. In fact, we presume it is entirely within the line of truth to say that it exceeded anything of the kind ever seen in Beloit. But that demonstration, like some that have been seen in Janesville and other places, establishes the fact, that when a torch light procession is given it is idle to think of having public speaking immediately following such a demonstration.

Two of the best speakers in the state were engaged for the demonstration at Beloit—Colonel John C. Spooner, of Hudson; and the Hon. J. V. Quarles, of Racine. It was half-past ten o'clock when the blazing column of nearly 1,500 men broke ranks near the Goodwin house. The men who had been marching were too tired to listen to any speaking, and the visiting Blaine and Logan clubs were compelled to take the trains shortly after for their respective homes. The consequence was that Colonel Spooner did not speak at all, although he traveled 300 miles to fill the appointment, and Mr. Quarles spoke briefly but exceedingly well, to a restless and constantly changing crowd in front of the Goodwin house.

Those facts, and the experience of other cities which have given like demonstrations, make an important suggestion. They suggest the folly of attempting to hold in-door meetings after a torch-light demonstration. The people don't want them; and besides that it is an injustice to the speakers to ask them to begin to speak at a late hour of the night when the masses who should hear political questions discussed, are tired and want to get home. They are not in a mood to crowd themselves in a hall and be compelled to hear a long speech.

A better plan is to have the speeches in the afternoon when a street demonstration is given at night, or not have them at all. This is true, for it has been tried hundreds of times, that there is a more telling influence over the masses made by a grand procession, with blazing torches, flying rockets, bands of music, and a shouting good time on the street, than by a dozen long speeches.

ECHOES OF THE FIGHT.

The Rumble of Political Thunder Grows in Volume.

Movements of the Leaders in Various Portions of the Field—Latest News from the Line of Battle.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Mr. Blaine and party left New York city at 10 A. M. Wednesday, there being a large crowd at the station which cheered him loudly. When he arrived at Albany there was an enthusiastic multitude to greet him, and Mr. Blaine, Chaney, M. Dewey and others made short addresses amid vociferous cheers, which were repeated as the train moved from the station. At Poughkeepsie, Yonkers, Sing Sing, Gold Springs and other points there were also enthusiastic crowds in waiting, where opportunity was given, short addresses were made, and a chance for as many as possible to shake Mr. Blaine's hand.

At Schenectady was another large gathering with music to greet the party. At Albany, where he was met by a large college being largely represented, Mr. Blaine thanked the people for their welcome and Mr. Husted made a short address. Some unknown man handed Mr. Blaine an envelope containing the Mulligan letters while Mr. Husted was speaking.

At Poughkeepsie, Mr. Blaine, St. Johnsville, Rome, Little Falls and Herkimer there were large crowds and more speeches. Mr. Blaine speaking a few words of thanks at nearly every place. About 2,000 people were present at the station at Ulster when the train passed, and the party were warmly welcomed.

In this city there was a great demonstration. Thousands of visitors came from surrounding cities to the presidential candidate. There was a great procession, fireworks and other marks of enthusiasm. Upon arrival of the train at 5 P. M., Mr. Blaine was introduced to the people, and said:

"Gentlemen and Fellow Countrymen—This vast assemblage is far more eloquent than any words I could speak. I am a poor man, I shall say nothing, and shall confine myself to simple and hearty thanks for so much of this grand demonstration as may in any degree be continued for myself as a personal compliment. But I am sure it would be great gratification to me to assume that more than a small part of it is so devoted. I bid you a cordial good night. (Applause.)"

Mr. Blaine was followed by other speakers and a reception was tendered him at Senator McCarty's house.

EX-GOVERNOR HENDRICKS' MOVEMENTS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 25.—An Illinois delegation arrived Wednesday to secure Mr. Hendricks' presence in that state. They hail from Decatur, Ill., and were as follows: S. S. Jack, editor of the Decatur Review; R. Pratt, secretary of the county central committee; H. Wagoner, ex-mayor; W. R. Scroggs and William Lloyd. They called upon Mr. Hendricks and presented their plan. It is the intention to hold a great rally at Decatur in October, at which Mr. Hendricks' presence is desired. The latter was not prepared to give a definite answer to the request, and took the matter under advisement. The visitors expressed the belief that Illinois may be wrested from the republicans. They speak of large defections from the republican ranks, and claim to be gaining many prohibition votes on the ground that the republicans have abandoned the temperance question. There is not much opposition to Logan, but an indifference toward the state, and a positive "independent" movement against Blaine.

Governor Hendricks and State Auditor Rice have returned from Fort Wayne, where the governor made a speech to a great crowd of people. Col. Rice was mistaken on the train for Cleveland. There was great enthusiasm. On the out-bound trip, large crowds awaited the governor at Kokomo, Huntington, Peru, and other points, and the trip was something of an ovation. Governor Hendricks leaves in a special train for Columbus, Ohio. An escort accompanies him.

Massachusetts Butler Men.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 25.—The People's party held its state convention in this city Wednesday. There were about 1,500 delegates present. The convention was made permanent chairman, and Judge McCaffrey of this city, nominated for governor. John M. Marsh, of Springfield, was selected for lieutenant governor. Gen. Butler arrived in the city during the afternoon, and the convention took a recess to receive him, which it did with great enthusiasm.

The ticket was completed as follows: Secretary of state, Col. John S.weeney, of Lawrence; treasurer, Nathaniel S. Cushing, of Middlebury; auditor, Daniel W. Andrews, of Danvers; attorney general, Col. Thomas W. Clark, of Boston. The election of a large and John I. Baker, of Beverly, and Col. A. C. Drinkwater, of Braintree.

A platform of ten columns in length had been prepared by Col. Thomas W. Clark, a Boston lawyer, but he incautiously allowed some of the reporters to get hold of it Tuesday evening, and it appeared in print Wednesday morning. This so disgusted some of the committed that they refused to accept his draft, so the original platform reported by Gen. Butler at Chicago was presented, with a few extracts appended from Col. Clark's draft.

Rosecrans on Blaine.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 25.—Gen. Rosecrans has written a letter to Rev. J. S. Early, the Roman Catholic priest who recently presented to Mr. Blaine a gold-headed cane voted him at a Roman Catholic fair, in which letter the general bitterly attacks the republican nominee for the presidency, and accuses Mr. Blaine of having been brought up by a Roman Catholic mother and after ward doubling that faith and becoming a member of the Congregational church. He also charges Mr. Blaine with attacks on the Roman Catholic church (referring to the Madison circular), and with having been a Know-Nothing, and urges, in effect, that Roman Catholics should not vote for the republican candidate under any circumstances.

Gen. Logan.

NEWARK, Ohio, Sept. 25.—The announcement that Gen. Logan would pass through here via a special train over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, on route east, drew an immense crowd to the depot to greet him. The train arrived at 2:10 P. M., and Logan made his appearance on the depot platform and was greeted with great applause. The time was taken up in hand-shaking, it being almost impossible for him to make a speech.

South Carolina Republicans.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 25.—The Republican state convention has not yet opened an organization. The committee on credentials had an all night session but could not agree. The convention could not do anything until late Wednesday afternoon, with a report was made regarding the seating of both of the Charleston contestants.

The minority report favored the admission of the Tolt faction. A long and bitter debate followed. The minority report was rejected and Tolt indignantly seceded from the convention, and his adherents followed and a most disorderly scene ensued. The convention continued in session until midnight without accomplishing anything.

Harrison at Mount Hope, Ill.

Mount Hope, Ill., Sept. 25.—Carter Harrison passed through this city Wednesday morning on route for Beardstown. There was a large crowd at the depot with a brass band. Mayor Harrison was introduced by Hon. George H. Harbo. Three cheers were given him, and he was warmly greeted. Harrison made a twenty minute speech, which was well received, and the train moved away amid loud cheers.

Mr. Harrison was at Beardstown, in the afternoon, when he spoke to an audience of several hundred people. Gen. Litch, of Chicago, and William H. Barnes, of Jacksonville, Ill., made speeches in the evening. One thousand torchbearers, accompanied by seven brass bands and many drum corps, paraded the streets, which were profusely decorated and illuminated.

Senator Sherman at Columbus, Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 25.—Senator Sherman addressed a large audience in Constock opera house last Wednesday night. He was warmly greeted. He devoted most of his time to the tariff question, claiming that on a fair vote half the southern states were republican, and criticizing Speaker Carlisle's recent negative statement that the tariff would get the whole of the 153 electoral votes of the south.

Colorado Democracy.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 25.—The Democratic state convention Wednesday appointed the usual committees and elected B. F. Montgomery, of Arapahoe county, permanent chairman. Hon. Alvin Adams, of Pueblo, was nominated for governor by acclamation. The convention then adjourned for the day. When it reassembles a platform will be reported, and the remainder of the nominations made. The proceedings were harmonious.

Butler Sells His Stock.

LOWELL, Mass., Sept. 25.—It has been frequently charged that Gen. Butler, while pro-Union, was the friend of the workingman, is in reality the friend of the low wages paid to the employees in the Middlesex mills, and is charged as an evidence of his insincerity. Gen. Butler did hold 300 shares in the mills, but they were recently sold at auction, and there is not a share of the company paper in the possession of the general or his family.

Political Briefs.

Ex-Governor Oglesby spoke at Rock Island Wednesday afternoon to a great crowd. The Republicans of Texas have nominated Judge A. B. Norton, of Dallas, for governor, and John Haynes, of Webb county, for lieutenant governor.

Hannibal Hamilton has gone to Ohio to take part in the campaign, and was serenaded by the Grand Army band at Canton Wednesday. Cassius M. Clay spoke at Wabash, Ind.

A democratic barbecue is to be given next month at De Kalb, Ill. A German woman donated an apple to a poor man.

W. H. Nichols, president of the Lincoln Young Men's Republican club, and several other members, have resigned their membership in consequence of the club's recent action in endorsing the Republican national ticket.

A dispatch from New York states that the Union league has not yet committed itself to Mr. Blaine as an organization, and that the members of the delegation of that body who recently visited Mr. B. in New York acted as individual members and spoke only for themselves.

Ernest Morton has been nominated for congress by the Democrats of the First Wisconsin district. John Black has withdrawn from the field in the Fourth district, and P. V. Devereux will probably secure the nomination. In the Fifth Pennsylvania district the Republicans nominated F. C. Bennett.

Unitarian Conference.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The Unitarian conference Wednesday was numerously attended, and the reports of committees having been received, a series of resolutions were adopted. The resolutions were adopted by the conference, and the reports of committees having been received, a series of resolutions were adopted. The resolutions were adopted by the conference, and the reports of committees having been received, a series of resolutions were adopted.

Tragedy at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 25.—A horrible tragedy occurred at 242 Lake street, at about 11 A. M. Wednesday. A young man, a former resident of Pittsburgh, a former resident of this city, shot his wife and then committed suicide by shooting himself through the head. The family consisted of Gardner, a wife (whom he married five years ago), a child of 4 years old, and two girls named Lillian Collins and Frankie Reynolds. News of the murder and suicide rapidly spread throughout the city and created a profound sensation. Upon an examination it was found that the girl, Lillian, was suffering from a brain disease, and that the mother, who was a devoted wife and mother, had been suffering from a brain disease, and that the mother, who was a devoted wife and mother, had been suffering from a brain disease, and that the mother, who was a devoted wife and mother, had been suffering from a brain disease.

The Pleuro-Pneumonia.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Dr. Paaren, state veterinarian, Wednesday visited the farm of M. J. Clarke, Geneva, Ill., and caused two Jersey heifers to be shot. An examination clearly showed the existence of pleuro-pneumonia, and the proprietors fixed the value of the heifers at $100. Two other heifers had died within six months, and a young bull is in quarantine.

Bismarck's Son an Ambassador.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The Standard announces that Count Herbert von Bismarck has been appointed to succeed Count Münster as German ambassador to Great Britain.

Berlin, Sept. 25.—Count Herbert von Bismarck has been decorated with the order of the Red Eagle—unusual distinction for so young a diplomat.

Harvard Overseers Meet.

Boston, Sept. 25.—The Harvard overseers met Wednesday and chose trustees for the university. Edwin T. Goddard was appointed lecturer on free trade, and Robert E. Thompson on protection. Hon. E. R. Hoar was elected president for the ensuing year.

The Western Railway Complication.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—The general western railroad managers who have been considering the western complications in freight rates have decided upon three pools—one east and two west of the Missouri. The plans for these pools are made subject to the conditions of an agreement that the whole matter shall be submitted to the presidents of the roads involved, and if they sign the articles then the pools shall go into effect at once and continue until Dec. 31. The agreement is to the effect that should the presidents refuse to ratify the agreement, then it shall be considered only in the light of a treaty, which shall expire by limitation Oct. 6. The general freight agents will meet immediately on rates.

A Civil Service Question.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 25.—At a meeting of the Connecticut Republican association Wednesday night an attempt was made to change the name to the "Connecticut Social Club" being the opinion of some of the members that under the civil service laws, it is not proper for government employees to continue the political organization. The matter was laid over until the October meeting.

Why Courtland Is Inactive.

PARK, Sept. 25.—It is reported that Arthur Courtland's inactive policy after the bombardment of Manila has been due to a request on the part of Germany to be allowed to mediate between France and China.

Great Floods in South America.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Advises from South America report tremendous floods in the Argentine Republic. A number of ships were foundered on otherwise damaged by a freshet at Buenos Ayres.
